Happy New Year to everyone!

We will be celebrating the natural beauties of this sometimes-chilly month while staying warm and cozy ourselves. There will be Snowflake images to enjoy, Cozy Slippers Day, the Full Wolf Moon, and an appreciation of hot chocolate! Come taste some with us!

January is a perfect time to take stock, to relax after the busy holidays, to stretch out luxuriously and enjoy the peace of the post-Christmas rush. We will look forward to the upcoming sprouts of Spring growth that are just around the corner! One thing we want to do is keep building up our Moon Garden so help Jill-choose white, pale or silver plants! If you have favorites, let Nancy know so we can try to incorporate them this spring!

Happy New Year!

(Even "in the deep mid-winter" like this, there are signs of the coming spring—daylight grows by a minute or two almost everyday! Enjoy the cozy times with us while they last!)

Join Jeanne S. in celebrating her December birthday with a pie social on Tuesday, January 8th! She thought everyone would enjoy the pie more once the Christmas Rush was over!!

Time to Paint Clothespins Again!
They're great for sealing up food bags, and we're running low! Time to paint more!

What do YOU put on a peanut butter sandwich?! National Peanut Butter Day is January 24th so all week we'll be learning new tricks with peanut butter!

Cozy Slippers Day
Friday, January 11th, put on your favorite cozy slippers and indulge yourself in wearing them all day!

We're going to use our ballerina tutu cookie cutter to try 'Tutu Cookies' in January! We will lovingly dedicate them to our resident Novie G. who we love teasing about being our prima ballerina...Novie has been such a good sport with all the merriment so she will get first choice of our ballerina cookies! (We promised her she had earned them after her big holiday season 'dancing' in "The Nutcracker"!)

If it should snow, we will make Snow Pudding!!
"Using soft, clean snow, milk, sugar, and vanilla, you can make this easy, quick family favorite."
6 c. clean fresh snow, 1 cup milk, 1/2 c. superfine sugar, 1/2 tsp. vanilla—Mix together carefully, freeze or carefully scoop into bowls and serve immediately—
It's wonderful!
We've made it before!
